TICKETS TO RICHMOND!

In our columns of to-day the announcement is specially made of the reduced rates for round-trip tickets to this city, from all points on the Southern rallway, board Air-Line and their connections. These roads reach a vast area of terrihave a most important trade, though it

The dates fixed for the sale of these tickets-August 12th, 18th, and 14th-are at a time when southern merchants are acmarketing of the crops, which, fortunately, this season give unusual promise.

. The advantages which Richmond offers ich buyers are, to some extent, illustrated in the classified list of wholesale dealers and manufacturers appearing upon another page of this issue. The ritory, and its splendid facilities and channels of distribution, as well as the relations of good will, confidence, and thorough acquaintance with each other's business methods and requirements, afford the very best basis for the most judicious and profitable dealings. Cerrepresentatives of our wholesale houses and manufacturing establishments to do a broad and deep foundation for the cultivation and perpetuation of these kindly relations. If our friends and customers will, on this occasion, avail themselves of this favorable opportunity to become more intimately acquainted with the resources and advantages of Richmond, it will please us very much, and will, we hope, profit them no little.

Never before in the commercial history of Richmond have such favorable rates-ONE FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIPbeen named for such a specific purpose from a field so extensive. This concession has been made by the railroads concerned, in response to the unanimous sentiment of the community, voiced by the business-men, their commercial organizations, and the entire press of the city. We are bent upon attracting to Richmond the merchants of the South, with the view of renewing old and making new acquaintances; of cementing existing and establishing additional business relations that may be mutually agreeable and profitable.

The short time between the promulgation of these rates and the date fixed for the sale of the tickets has operated, to some extent, as a limit to the expression of interest, and to the number of invitations extended, which otherwise would have flooded our southern friends. But these doubtless know that the gates of this city are at all times wide open to them. It is, therefore, hoped that the universal desire of our people to welcome as many of them as possible, is well known, and needs neither frequent nor urgent solicitation, and that they will feel assured of the most cordial greeting and the best of treatment from Richmond, not only on this occasion, but at all other times.

Come and see us. You will find the latch-string hanging on the outside of the door. We wish to show you that Hudson between New York and Jersey Richmond is not only important as a historical city, but as a city of busy and enterprising merchants and manufacturers, and as the home of an industrious and thrifty population.

A STATE PRIMARY.

The senatorial primary question is looming up boldly. It is now stated in of the agreement, will, it is thought, some of our exchanges that prominent | put an end to the big strike.

men will urge the Roanoke convention

After one or two good, strong, rousing speeches are made for a primary, we think there will be a scramble of delegates to "get into the band wagon" The proposition is a popular one, and ed by the people. If the majority of States adopt the primary election plan as their method of nominating senators, it will not be long before the United States Senate is composed of men who will gladly vote to submit a constitutional amendment making the desired change. We like the idea of making nominations by means of a primary election, but we think it right and prudent to warn the convention to be careful about the plan. The project itself is sound and popular; all that is needed to ensure its successful execution is a carefully-drawn plan, legalized by law. And this the Roanoke convention may and should provide for.

WORK FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

The following is from the editorial columns of the Lypchburg News: The next session of the Virginia Legisinture will have much important work to perform. The people of the State-have decided against a convention to revise the State Constitution; but it would be a mistake to assume that the present Constitution is satisfactory to the great body of the people. Various causes conbody of the people. Various causes con-body of the people. Various causes con-tributed to defeat the proposition to hold tributed to defeat the proposition. The Republican a State convention. The Republican party was opposed to it, and many Demoats, for various reasons, cast allots against the measure. But it is enerally admitted that our Constitution needs revision. The only alternative, then, is for the Legislature to take up then, is for the Legislature to take up the work in the manner prescribed by the present Constitution. Any amend-ment, to become valid, must be approved by two Legislatures, and then submitted to the people for ratification. This is a very slow method of removing abuses and improving our fundamental laws, but nd improving our fundamental laws, but is the only method left us, and the Legislature will be expected to apprecithe situation and enter upon work next winter. Our judiciary sys-tem needs reform, our criminal expenses must be reduced. The State will soon have to pay a higher rate of interest. The finances of the Commonwealth will The mances of the continuance of an ex-not justify the continuance of an ex-pensive system, while neighboring States have shown us that an efficient system can be devised without laying unreasone burdens on the tax-payers. Other matters of interest will come before the Legislature. But the reducon of our expenses outweighs them all in Importance. That is a timely and thoughtful preentation of the case. It is quite certain that when the real estate of the Commonwealth is assessed for taxation in 1900, there will be a great pulling down of values. In 1895 the ountry districts reported large decreases, but the cities and towns gave increases. Three years hence-unless a great season of prosperity first comes upon the landtown and country alike will cut values But even were the present values con-irmed by the reassessment of 1900, our State would not have revenue enough to pay 3 per cent, interest upon the "Century" bonds and continue all the other charges that now burden our State Treasury. It is apparent, therefore, that the necessity for retrenchment is real and not imaginary.

Cuts will have to be made, not only in the expenses of the administration of criminal justice, but in many other The schools are now getting, through the State Treasury, over $300,000 per annum, and the collegiate institutions about $250,000. We do not believe any serious attempt to reduce these appropriations will be made, but economies longer be neglected. Such a monument will have to be introduced into every other department.

We agree with the News as to the solemn obligation that rests upon the Legislature to enter heartily upon the work of revising and amending the Constitution. It is a work that must be done. If the Legislature cannot, or will not, do it promptly, then the people will see to it that a constitutional convention is called. Further delay is not to be tole-

We know that the Legislature will be sorely pressed for time to do all the things expected of it within a ninetydays' session; but better that an extra session should follow immediately upon the heels of the regular session than that the long-promised constitutional amendments should not be forthcoming.

Public attention seems to be directed olely to the reduction of expenses in our judiciary system. That may be a good lace to begin the cutting down process, but if we expect to make up our deficiencies from that source alone, we shall be grievously disappointed. It would be beyond the bounds of reason to expect to retrench in that direction to an extent which would put us upon a favorable financial foundation. We shall have to cut not only in that direction, but in every other, nearly.

We expect the Roanoke convention, now soon to assemble, to make an emphatic deliverance upon this subject. Luckily, there will be no contention in the convention over national issues. Time may therefore be give to State questions. And chief of these is that relating to reducing expenses by means of legislative acts and constitutional amend-

With a suitable plank put into the Roanoke platform, it will only remain for the Democrats of Virginia to bring out their most worthy and sensible citizens and send them to the Legislature. There will be much important work before the Legislature, and we shall need skilled hands to do it promptly and well.

The proposed introduction of the pri-mary election method into Virginia politics, with regard to the choice of United States senators, would certainly not be un-Democratic, and would seem to be the next best thing to an election the senators by a direct vote of the people. The coming Democratic conven-tion may have to deal with this question.-The Norfolk Ledger.

We see it stated that the question will certainly be brought before the Reanoke convention. If the convention will take care to provide a proper primary election plan, the new method of nominating United States senators will work well, give satisfaction, and strengthen our party in many ways.

It is announced that work on the great New York-New Jersey bridge will soon be commenced. The tunnel under the City is about half completed. The work on the foundations for the new East River bridge at New York is proceeding rapidly.

Copies of the coal-mine uniformity agreement have been mailed to all the leading operators and mine-owners in the Pittsburg district, and the adoption SMASHING THE KHALIFA.

The Queen's speech was the oloriess deliverance. Among other things she assured "my Lords and Gentlemen" that the cordinlity of her relations with the foreign Powers remained unchanged. It is evident that she does is in accord with the public's demand not regard the natives on the Afghan that United States senators shall be elect- border, in South Africa, and on the Upper Nile, as Powers, or else looks upon their performances as little sideshows. With these natives her relations, at present, are anything but cordial, and as for the Upper Nile diversion, it promises to develop into a pretty goodsized, entertainment before the curtain goes down. The Khalffa is said to have gathered a very formidable army at Omdurman, and it is expected that when the Nile expedition reaches the neighborhood of that place, there will be some very bloody fighting. However, there can hardly be a question as to the final outcome. The order to "smash the Khalifa" has been given in earnest, and the expeditionary force is large enough to carry out the order, even were it not the case that the dervishes are no longer the fanatics, and consequently no longer the warriors, they were at the time of the Gordon and the Hicks-Pasha tragedies. There is no concealment of the fact that the policy of "butcher and bolt," as respects the Upper Nile and the Soudan, is a thing of the past, and that the British are determined to make a clean-cut job of the present advance in the matter of reconquering the Soudan.

A signal defeat of the Khalifa at or near Omdurman will mean practically continuous British possession through Africa from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean. It will also mean the checkmating of French moves in the Continent, from both the east and the west, and after the Soudan shall have been pacified, the clasping of British hands from the north and from the south, and the realization of the Rhodesian dream. In other words, the "smashing of the Khalifa" will ensure the ultimate establishment of British domination over a territorial sweep from Alexandria to Cape Town.

HUNTER MONUMENT. The movement to erect a monument to Hon. R. M. T. Hunter has been revived through articles in the Tidewater Democrat and the Irvington Citizen, and the efforts of Judge T. R. B. Wright. In 1892 the Hunter Monument Association was chartered by the General Assembly of Virginia, the object of the association being to transfer the remains of Mr. Hunter to Hollywood Cemetery, and erect over them an appropriate memorial. It was the sense of the corporators that this memorial should take the form of a simple but massive sarcophagus, that being most suggestive of Mr. Hunter's life and character. The Richmond officers of the association went so far, we think, as to have designs for the monument submitted, but owing to the depressed condition of business and the fact that subscriptions were being solicited for several other monuments, it was decided to postpone pressing the movement to a more auspicious time. Judge Wright, who was one of the leading spirits in the movement when it was first started, thinks the occasion is ripe for taking up the matter again, and in a letter to the Tidewater Democrat, says the association is determined to perform its sacred task, and will prosecute it with system and vigor. Certainly, it is to be hoped that the duty of honoring by a lasting memorial one who proved so great In civic life as did Mr. Hunter will not as the association has always had in view would be comparatively inexpensive, and the necessary funds for its erection and the transfer of Mr. Hunter's remains to Hollywood ought now to be raised without much difficulty.

The New York Journal of Commerce is very much exercised over the movement in Gotham to form a milk trust, Unless New York milk is very much maligned, we should imagine that New Yorkers would welcome a milk trust, provided it would insure milk that could be trusted. Since we come to think of it, however, a milk trust would be subjected to unusual temptation to water its stock, in which event many small holders would suffer.

The proposed duel between Prince Henri d'Orleans and General Albertone has been sufficiently advertised to ensure the intervention of the police-that is, if the police take the modern Southern European duel seriously.
